Conference on Distributive Justice in Health

6 and 7 October 2011 University of Minho, Braga, Portugal

Organization : Centre for Humanistic Studies, University of Minho (CEHUM)

The Centre for Humanistic Studies of the University of Minho (CEHUM) is sponsoring an international conference on distributive justice in health which will take place in Braga the 6th and 7th of October 2011.

The aim of this conference is to define the state of the art in the discussion of justice in the distribution of health resources. For example, what is the right “currency” of justice in health : health care, all determinants and resources for health, Quality-Adjusted Life Years, health-related quality of life, something else ? And what is the right “pattern” : equality, sufficiency, priority to the worse-off, what the demos deliberately elects ?

The meeting comprises plenary sessions with guest speakers and discussants on normative issues surrounding the justification and scope of distributive justice in health within the main theories of egalitarian thought.

The plenary sessions will be followed by workshops on both philosophical and more practical topics. Guest speakers and discussants will take part in these workshops. There will also be a Book Symposium on Shlomi Segal’s Health, Luck, and Justice (Princeton University Press, 2009), with comments by some of the speakers.

Fee

The conference fee is 50 €; and can be paid in cash at the conference desk.
